

Revision policy of statistical data

In following cases, statistics should be revised and re-published:

- In case of incorrect reporting and revision of data source;
- In case of improvement of classification of financial instruments, in order to implement international standards;
- In case of expansion the coverage of statistical data;
- In case of change of statistical data source.

Reference for revised data should be provided in the footnotes, or advance notes on the revision should be published.